Notes

Natalie Tischler, Designer

I design jewelry for heroines and daydreamers. I strive to create timeless pieces that have an authentic feel. I am inspired by bohemian ideas, bold women and living in the moment. My jewelry will see a girl through her best adventures. I'm on a jewelry journey, exploring themes and process. My methods include collecting, casting, polishing, riveting, rethinking and reworking objects into a collection of jewelry that is pretty, vintage-inspired and wearable.

I grew up in a small Texas town shopping garage sales, sewing my own clothes, and daydreaming my way through school. I studied Art History at the University of Texas. I made jewelry as a hobby for twelve years before starting Ornamental Things in 2004.
